Kiewit Hall ceremony kicks off $97M engineering expansion

Tore than 100 Huskers — including donors, current students and campus leaders - attended a June 28 groundbreaking for the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's privatelyfunded, $97 million Kiewit Hall.

The project, which includes a $25 million gift from Omaha's Kiewit Corporation, is part of a multi-phased, $170 million expansion of College of Engineering facilities.

"This is a big day for us, the University of Nebraska, for the State of Nebraska (and) for the field of engineering as we turn ground on the largest academic facilities project in the 152-year history of the university," said Chancellor Ronnie Green. "We are very excited about it. We know our students are going to build the future, and they're going to be more enabled to do that through this new facility."

Other lead contributors recognized during the groundbreaking ceremony were the Suzanne & Walter Scott Foundation, Abel Foundation, Peter Kiewit Foundation, Robert B. Daugherty Foundation and Acklie Charitable Foundation.

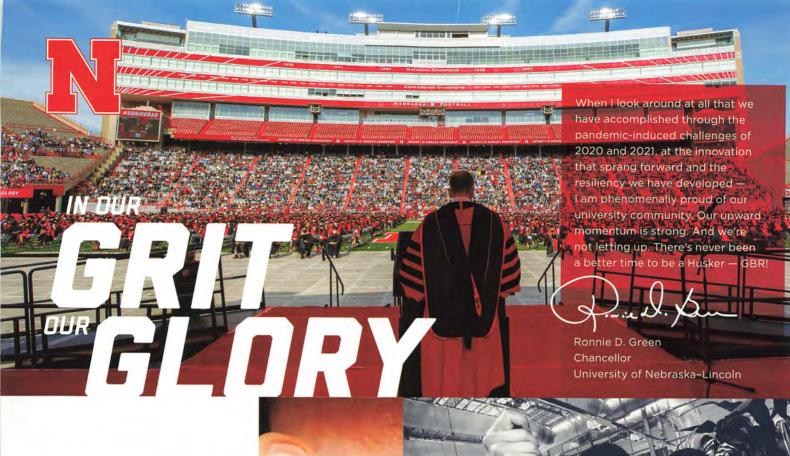

Slated to open in 2023. Kiewit Hall will serve as the academic hub for undergraduate engineering education and house Lincoln-based construction management programs; included will be classrooms, instructional labs, Engineering Student Services, maker spaces for the college's student organizations, and a large outdoor plaza for the university community.

Nebraska leaders break ground on the new Kiewit Hall.

"As someone who has spent my career at this university, I can't tell you how gratifying it is to see that kind of investment in the College of Engineering," said Lance C. Pérez, dean of engineering, "What matters is what's going to happen in this building. For the first time in over a generation, we will have a facility that is all about teaching engineering. It's going to be a game-changer for the State of Nebraska and the next generations of students."

he fall semester is a special time—an opportunity to welcome a new class of future leaders to our campuses. This fall especially, I am grateful to be part of the University of Nebraska family.

Watching our faculty, staff and students persevere through challenging times has reminded me of the qualities that make Nebraska so special: our work ethic, resilience, our common sense and care for others.

Our coaches and staff have also gone above and beyond this year in making it possible for our student-athletes to do what they love. As Nebraskans, we want to compete.

It's taken a great deal of preparation and teamwork to get us to this point. But that's how we succeed on the field, in the classroom and in life.

I'm proud of the commitment the Husker family has shown for their team and their university. We truly have the greatest fans in the world.

> Nebraska is special because we are 'one team.' As Coach Frost says, we have a unity of purpose here that sets us apart from everyone else.

Thank you for your support of the Huskers and the University of Nebraska. Here's to the future!

HUSKERS OPEN HOME SLATE VS. FORDHAM

Nebraska looks to rebound from a season-opening loss at Illinois when it hosts Fordham today in its first home game of the 2021 season. While the Huskers have one game under their belt, Fordham is opening its season today.

Nebraska was unable to overcome its own mistakes in a 30-22 loss at Illinois last weekend. The Huskers out-gained the Illini, had more first downs, more passing yards and averaged more yards per rush but an unforced safety and a fumble return for a touchdown provided the winning margin for Illinois.

NU limited Illinois to 326 yards of offense, 90 of which came on two plays - a 45-yard touchdown pass and a 45-yard run. The Illini did all of their damage in a four-drive stretch during the second and third quarters, scoring three touchdowns on four drives - their only scoring drives of the game - during that span.

Adrian Martinez had more yards himself (343) than the entire Illinois offense. Martinez threw for 232 yards and one touchdown and rushed for 111 yards and one score. He had a 75-yard touchdown run in the third quarter which was the longest run by a Husker since Taylor Martinez in the 2012 Big Ten Championship Game. Oliver Martin also produced a big game, catching six passes for 103 yards, both of which were career highs.

Today, Nebraska is facing a team from the Football Championship Subdivision (FCS) for the first time since 2018. That season, the Huskers defeated Bethune-Cookman 45-9 in a game that was added during the season after Nebraska's season opener was canceled. The Huskers are 30-1-2 all-time against current FCS teams, with the lone loss (1899) and both ties (1909 and 1914) coming against South Dakota.

BLACKSHIRTS STINGY AGAIN

Nebraska's Blackshirt defense limited Illinois to 326 yards of offense last week. The Huskers held their opponent to fewer than 400 yards for the fifth straight game dating back to last season. Nebraska has held five straight opponents to fewer than 400 yards for the first time since the 2016 season.

Nick Henrich led the way in his second career start. Henrich finished with a game-high 11 tackles after he posted 12 tackles in last year's season finale at Rutgers, which was the first start of his career. Pheldarius Payne recorded a career-high 2.0 sacks at Illinois, as Nebraska's three sacks as a team matched its season high from a year ago. Garrett Nelson added a career-high 2.5 tackles for loss, while Luke Reimer forced a fumble and Myles Farmer had a fumble recovery.

ERVIN MAKES HISTORY WITH START AT ILLINOIS

True freshman running back Gabe Ervin earned the start at Illinois last weekend, and he led the Husker running backs with 12 carries for 33 yards. It was a historic start for Ervin, who became the first true freshman running back to start a season opener in the modern history of Nebraska football (since World War II).

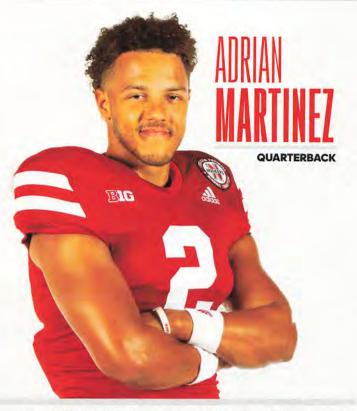

Overall, Ervin became only the seventh position player to start a Nebraska season opener as a true freshman.

FORDHAM RAMS

Fordham kicks off its 2021 season today. Last season, the Rams saw their fall season postponed due to COVID-19. Fordham played a shortened season in the spring, finishing with a 2-1 record.

The Rams return their starting quarterback from last season, Tim DeMorat, who was named the 2020-21 Patriot League Offensive Player of the Year. He led the league in passing yards (1,049) and passing touchdowns (5) during the threegame spring season. DeMorat enters this season ranked 10th among active FCS quarterbacks in career passing yards (5,356) and 23rd in career passing efficiency (127.44). In addition to his passing prowess, DeMorat also ranked third in rushing for Fordham in the spring of 2021. The Rams also return their top two running backs from last season, including Trey Sneed who led Fordham with 175 rushing yards, nearly 70 percent of the team's three-game season total of 251 rushing yards.

On defense, Fordham must replace its leading tackler from last season, but the Rams return five of their top six tacklers overall. Linebacker Ryan Greenhagen returns as the leading tackler after making 22 stops last season, when he was named the 2020-21 Patriot League Defensive Player of the Year. Greenhagen enters this fall ranked second among active FCS players with an average of 1.37 tackles for loss per game in his 26 career games.

CONNOR CULP

PLACE-KICKER

CULP'S UNIQUE JOURNEY TO BECOMING NU'S STARTING KICKER

By Meghan Straub, Nebraska Communications

Place-kicker Connor Culp's impressive football career began with a push from his mom during his freshman year of high school.

"My first memory was going out for running back and getting lit up," Culp said. With the help and guidance from two influential high school coaches, he switched positions and his kicking journey took off.

"They helped me get off my feet and start kicking," Culp said. "They taught me everything I know today."

Out of high school, Culp was ranked the No. 9 kicker in the country and the nation's fourth-best kicking prospect. He committed to Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge and saw success with the Tigers as he finished his redshirt freshman season 11-for-16 on field goals and 20-for-23 on extra points. He converted eight straight field goals over a fourgame span in 2017, which included four makes against Ole Miss, tying for the second-highest single-game total in LSU history.

Culp continued to kick for LSU and was a member of the Tigers' 2019 National Championship team. Following that season and his subsequent graduation, Culp decided to transfer to Nebraska.

"I was really excited about the opportunity, and I heard a lot of great things about Nebraska," Culp said. "I loved the opportunity that I had and went for it all."

Despite the cold weather and drastic change in seasons, the Phoenix, Ariz., native has liked his time in the Midwest.

"The best part is the family culture on the team and how supportive all the guys are," Culp said. "It's been really enjoyable."

Not only has Culp found his place among his Husker teammates, but he has also made a name for himself on the field.

In his debut season as Nebraska's starting place-kicker in 2020, Culp was named the Big Ten Kicker of the Year in addition to being a first-team all-conference selection. He ranked second in the Big Ten and 15th nationally in field goals per game. He also was second in the conference and 13th nationally in field goal percentage.

Not one to dwell on those accolades, Culp's favorite Husker memory is "just playing games."

Outside of "just playing football," Culp enjoys hunting and fishing. He calls himself an avid outdoorsman and has skills working on cars. After his college career is complete, he sees himself working in construction, but will leave his options open.

"The NFL would be cool, but at the same time I have to be realistic."

With one additional year to prove himself, Culp has already started on a high note. In July, he was named to the watch list for the 2021 Lou Groza Award, which is presented to the nation's top place-kicker.

It's been a long journey for Culp, but he's still pleased with his decision to heed the advice of his high school coaches who recommended he switch to kicker. In fact, if he would go back in time and give his younger self advice, it would simply be to "keep going and never give up no matter how hard times can be."

LEVI FALCK

WIDE RECEIVER

LEVI FALCK GOES ALL OUT IN PREPARATION FOR FINAL SEASON

By Cole Peterson, Nebraska Communications

With a chip on his shoulder senior receiver Levi Falck has always set his expectations high, both on and off the field.

Working toward a master's degree in business, Falck will take the field for one final season in Memorial Stadium. However, this time will be different.

Falck joined the Huskers last year as a walk-on but was recently put on scholarship. Nebraska offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach Matt Lubick said Falck's hard work and leadership on the field and in the weight room set a great example for the younger Huskers, making the decision to put Falck on scholarship an easy one.

Growing up, one of Falck's biggest inspirations came from a player with a similar career trajectory. Minnesota Vikings wide receiver Adam Thielen also began his college career as a walk-on, proving to Falck that any dream is within reach if you work hard enough.

"We both started as walk-ons, and I look to him as a person that I want to be like in a couple years," Falck said. "He gave me hope that the NFL dream would be achievable, so that's kind of why I pursued a transfer (to Nebraska)."

Falck began his collegiate career at South Dakota when he spent four years with the Coyotes before joining the Huskers as a graduate transfer. In his first year as a Husker in 2020, Falck recorded 13 catches for 122 yards and a touchdown while playing in all eight games.

His knack for finding the ball was put on display against Purdue where he recorded his first career blocked punt in the first quarter. It set up the Huskers for an early score, injecting life into a team that has helped Falck find his passion for football again.

The move to Nebraska came in hopes of turning his NFL dream into a reality, with his on-field ability being seen by a larger audience. He recalls the first person coming up to him being quarterback Adrian Martinez who helped him learn the playbook.

"We all believe in ourselves that we can play at the highest level, and my teammates truly believe that," Falck said. "They just love Nebraska and a lot of them have Husker ties so they're all passionate, and that kind of rubs off on all of us."

Spending time with teammates has also been a bright spot of Falck's short tenure at Nebraska. This past summer, junior tight end Travis Vokolek and Falck won the golf summer tournament held within the team, giving Falck the title of best golfer on the team.

Although Falck claims to be the best on the course it represents the motto that he embraces the most, giving 100 percent all the time. He gives credit to the work he has put in off the field, which has helped him prepare for the challenges of the upcoming season.

"I have gained the confidence in myself now that I can contribute at the highest level," Falck said. "If I could go back and give myself advice, I would say pursue what you want to do and just go all in no matter what."

Nebraska had nine athletes representing five countries last month at the 2020 Tokyo Olympics. The group included a pair of current Nebraska student-athletes as well as seven Husker alumni.

Jordan Larson, Kelsey Robinson and Justine Wong-Orantes made up one-quarter of the USA women's volleyball team, while Amber (Parkinson) Neben competed for the United States in road cycling.

Four-time All-American Sarah Pavan competed in beach volleyball for her home country of Canada, former Husker track star Mate Koroknai represented Hungary in the men's 400-meter hurdles and Husker alumnus Chad Wright threw the discus for Jamaica.

Beatriz Padron, a Husker freshman, swam in the 200-meter freestyle for Costa Rica, the country's lone female swimmer in Tokyo. Keisei Tominaga, a sophomore guard for the Nebraska men's basketball team, represented the host country Japan in 3-on-3 basketball.

WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL

Former Nebraska All-Americans Jordan Larson, Justine Wong-Orantes and Kelsey Robinson led Team USA to its first gold medal in Tokyo last month. The Americans defeated Brazil 3-0 in the final match, securing Team USA's first gold medal in Olympic history. Larson, the USA's team captain who was a three-time All-American at Nebraska while lettering from 2005-08, was named Most Valuable Player and Best Outside Hitter. Larson also earned a spot on the Tokyo 2020 Dream Team alongside Wong-Orantes, who was named Best Libero. Larson became the first Husker to be a three-time Olympic medalist in volleyball after winning bronze in 2016 and silver in 2012. Robinson earned her second medal, after winning bronze in 2016, while Wong-Orantes won her first ever medal in her Olympic debut.

Sarah Pavan competed in her second straight Olympic games for her home country of Canada after finishing fifth in the 2016 Rio Olympics. Pavan played alongside Melissa Humana-Paredes, and the duo entered Tokyo as the reigning world champions and the No. 1-ranked pair in the world. The duo went undefeated in pool play, sweeping all six sets earning them the top spot in Pool A with a 3-0 record. In match two of pool play, Pavan recorded seven blocks against Germany, the most by any woman in a two-set match at the Olympics. Canada rolled through Spain in the Round of 16, before eventually falling to Australia 2-1 in the Quarterfinals. Pavan finished her run with 72 kills and 19 blocks throughout the five matches.

TRACK & FIELD

Three former Nebraska Track & Field athletes competed at the Tokyo Olympics. Amber Neben represented the United States in road cycling, Mate Koroknai represented Hungary in the men's 400-meter hurdles and Chad Wright threw the discus for Jamaica. Neben finished fifth in the individual time trial finishing with a time of 31:26:13. It marked her third time being named an Olympian after competing in the 2008 and 2012 Summer Olympics. She was the oldest Husker to ever compete in the Olympics at the age of 46. Koroknai placed 26th with a time of 49.80 in the men's 400-meter hurdles in his first Olympic games. Wright also participated in his first Olympic Games, representing his home country of Jamaica. He posted a throw of 62.93 meters in the preliminary round which marked a new season best for Wright. It also earned him a spot in the finals where he posted a throw of 62.56m, earning him a ninth-place finish.

SWIMMING

Beatriz Padron represented her home country of Costa Rica in the 200-meter freestyle last month. At 18 years old, she was an Olympian before beginning her freshman year making her the fifth-youngest Husker to compete in the Olympics. Padron was the country's lone female swimmer and placed 25th in the competition with a time of 2:04:56. Despite her young age, Padron has not only been an Olympian, she has also represented Costa Rica in the three previous FINA World Championships. She also competed in the 2018 Youth Olympic Games.

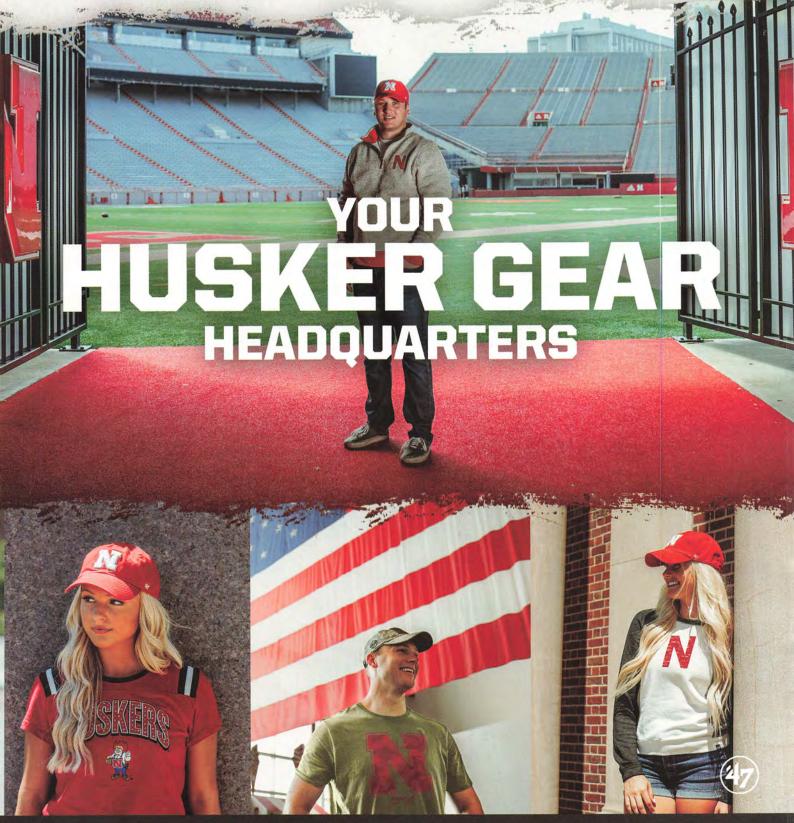

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Keisei Tominaga represented Japan last month in the 3-on-3 men's basketball tournament, the first Husker to ever represent Japan at the Olympics. Japan finished the tournament 2-5. The Japanese team advanced out of the preliminary round before dropping their final game to Latvia 21-18 in the quarterfinals. Tominaga had a phenomenal tournament run as he ranked third in tournament scoring with 6.9 points per game. He also shot a blistering 74 percent from inside the arc and 36 percent from the two-point line.

VICE CHANCELLOR, DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS TREV ALBERTS

Aveteran administrator and College Football Hall of Famer, Trev Alberts was named Vice Chancellor, Director of Athletics at the University of Nebraska on July 14, 2021. Alberts returned to his alma mater after spending 12 years at Nebraska-Omaha, guiding the program through a successful transition to the Division I level.

Alberts' tenure leading UNO Athletics was marked by successes in competition and in academics; by transitioning the university's athletic programs to NCAA Division I in 2011; and by establishing new homes for many UNO athletics teams, including Baxter Arena, the Maverick Park baseball/softball complex and the soccer pitch at Caniglia Field.

Alberts took the bold step in announcing that Omaha would reclassify from Division II to Division I in all sports in 2011 and simultaneously securing conference affiliation with the Summit League for all of the department's then-Division II programs. His vision for UNO's reclassifying teams was demonstrated even before the four-year transition period had ended. The Omaha baseball team won back-to-back Summit League regularseason championships in 2013 and 2014, while the men's basketball team made its first Division I postseason appearance in 2014 with a berth

Postseason Tournament. During UNO's time in the student-athlete experience, including the construction and staffing of the Hamilton Academic Excellence Room and the development of the Ethel S. Abbott Student-Athlete Development Wing. Those efforts paid off in UNO student-athletes posting consistent collective semester grade point averages above 3.3 for 18 consecutive semesters, including at least a 3.5 in each of his final three semesters.

The facilities around Omaha Athletics received a major uplift during his tenure. Maverick Park opened in March of 2021 to rave reviews as the home to the Mavericks' baseball and softball programs. Funding for the complex, which includes a 1,500-seat baseball facility and a 650-seat softball facility, were raised privately and provided both programs a permanent on-campus home for the first time.

Another crowning achievement was the opening of Baxter Arena in 2015. Alberts directed efforts to secure community support and funding to build the on-campus arena, which allowed the nationally prominent hockey program to play on campus and also serve as the home of the men's and women's basketball and volleyball programs. Caniglia Field underwent renovations in 2012, making it one of the finest collegiate soccer facilities in the country, highlighted by a FIFA 2-star rated playing surface and one of the largest LED videoboards in a soccer-only college facility.

Alberts' work on behalf of hockey, UNO's established Division I sport, also paid dividends. He successfully guided the Mavericks into the new National Collegiate Hockey Conference in 2013-14. The following year, Omaha reached the 2015 NCAA Frozen Four.

In addition, Alberts and his team led Omaha Athletics into a partnership with Learfield, a national leader in the marketing of collegiate athletics, and developed Omaha Sports Properties. As the exclusive corporate sponsorship sales unit for UNO Athletics, Omaha Sports Properties further enhanced revenue and increased brand prominence locally, regionally and nationally.

As part of UNO's reclassification to Division I, Alberts oversaw the rebranding of UNO athletics with new primary and secondary logos and a greater focus on strengthening the Maverick brand both regionally and nationally.

As a student-athlete, Alberts was an All-American on and off the football field as a Husker Blackshirt. He was Nebraska's first Butkus Award winner in 1993, helping Coach Tom Osborne's Huskers to an undefeated regular season and an Orange Bowl appearance against Florida State. A first-team All-American by every major publication in 1993, he was also the Football News National Defensive Player of the Year, the Big Eight Male Athlete of the Year, and the Big Eight Defensive Player of the Year. His No. 34 jersey was retired at the 1994 Red-White Spring Game. In 2015, he was elected to the College Football Hall of Fame.

Off the field, Alberts earned the NCAA's highest honor, The Today's Top Six Award. A three-time academic All-Big Eight honoree, he was a CoSIDA Academic All-American in 1993. He graduated from Nebraska before his senior season.

Alberts was the fifth pick in the 1994 NFL Draft by the Indianapolis Colts and played for the Colts until 1996. Following his NFL career, he served as an analyst on college and professional football games for major national networks, including ESPN, CNN/SI and CBS Sports Network.

Alberts and his wife Angela have three children - Chase, Ashtynne and Breanna

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA ADMINISTRATION

The University of Nebraska–Lincoln is ranked in the top tier of national universities, a member of the Big Ten Conference and the flagship and land-grant university for the state. We believe in the power of every person. We don't rest on our strengths - we stretch them. Sweat them. Combine them. Growing flexible, nimble and strong minds. That's what it takes to do big things.

This past year, the university achieved a record high in total research expenditures across the campus. UNL is leading the way in fields such as food and water security, early childhood development and nanoscience. Our teaching, research and outreach activities grow the state's economy by $2.2 billion every year, and the number of Nebraskans who benefit continues to grow as we have set new records in number of graduates, research and commercialization of technology.

In fall 2020, we bucked national, and regional, trends of double-digit declining enrollments. We saw more Nebraskans, more national students, more first-generation students, and a record number of underrepresented minority students matriculate at UNL, reflecting Nebraska's land-grant commitment to providing access to higher education. Nebraska was a Top Producer of student Fulbright scholars and was ranked by The Princeton Review as a Best Value College. The university's May 2021 graduating class was the largest in school history.

UNIVERSITY BOARD OF REGENTS

The Board of Regents consists of eight voting members elected by district for six-year terms, and four non-voting student Regents, one from each campus, who serve during their tenure as student body president. The board supervises the general operations of the university, and the control and direction of all expenditures. The board also includes a corporation secretary who manages all records including agendas, minutes, notices, policies and bylaws. Those documents can be found on the web at nebraska.edu/board.

Walter "Ted" Carter University of Nebraska President

The board meets regularly, primarily in Lincoln but also in Omaha and greater Nebraska. Persons wishing to provide information to the board or to appear before it should contact: Corporation Secretary, University of Nebraska, Varner Hall, 3835 Holdrege, Lincoln, NE 68583.
